LET NATURE SING takeover

Inspire friends and family

Nature needs our help. We can't do it alone so we need to spread the word. Let's give nature a bigger team!

If you're reading this, then you know that nature needs our help. We need your help to inspire others with how amazing nature is and help them understand what they can do and get them involved too. Get creative and spread the word!

You could put on a show, make a display, even get in the news! Why not make your friends and family "I'm on nature's side" badges to wear? Or how about telling your classmates at "show and tell", or using a school project to show your love of nature and why it needs help?

Are you doing this activity as part of your Wild Challenge? Take a look at your progress and go for gold!

Ideas of what you could do

- Go on a Bioblitz with friends and family and show them what's around in the local area.
- Create a poster of your favourite species and how you'd feel if there were none left.
- Do a litter pick in your local park (remember to wear protective gloves).
- Put on a display of how much you love nature and what you can do to help it.
- Run a Let Nature Sing bird song takeover to showcase the beauty of bird song.
- Turn your back garden into a gourmet bird restaurant – and encourage others to do the same. Search for "make a speedy bird cake" on rspb.org.uk

Stream bird song, download the Birdsong Radio app, involve a local business, or even host your own takeover!
